1. This is a chamber summons taken out by the original defendants for an injunction restraining the decree holder from attachment and selling of movable and immovable property. It is an admitted position that the said decree is not stayed as of today. Advocate for the defendants makes a statement that attempt will be made to obtain a stay of the decree. In my view, no order can be passed in this Chamber summons till the decree is stayed. In the circumstances, Chamber summons is dismissed with liberty to take out a fresh Chamber summons in case any stay of the decree is obtained from the competent Court. Chamber summons stands disposed off.
